

Throughout the year, members predominate in morning treks. Casuals are more prevalent in the spring and summer months, especially late at night.

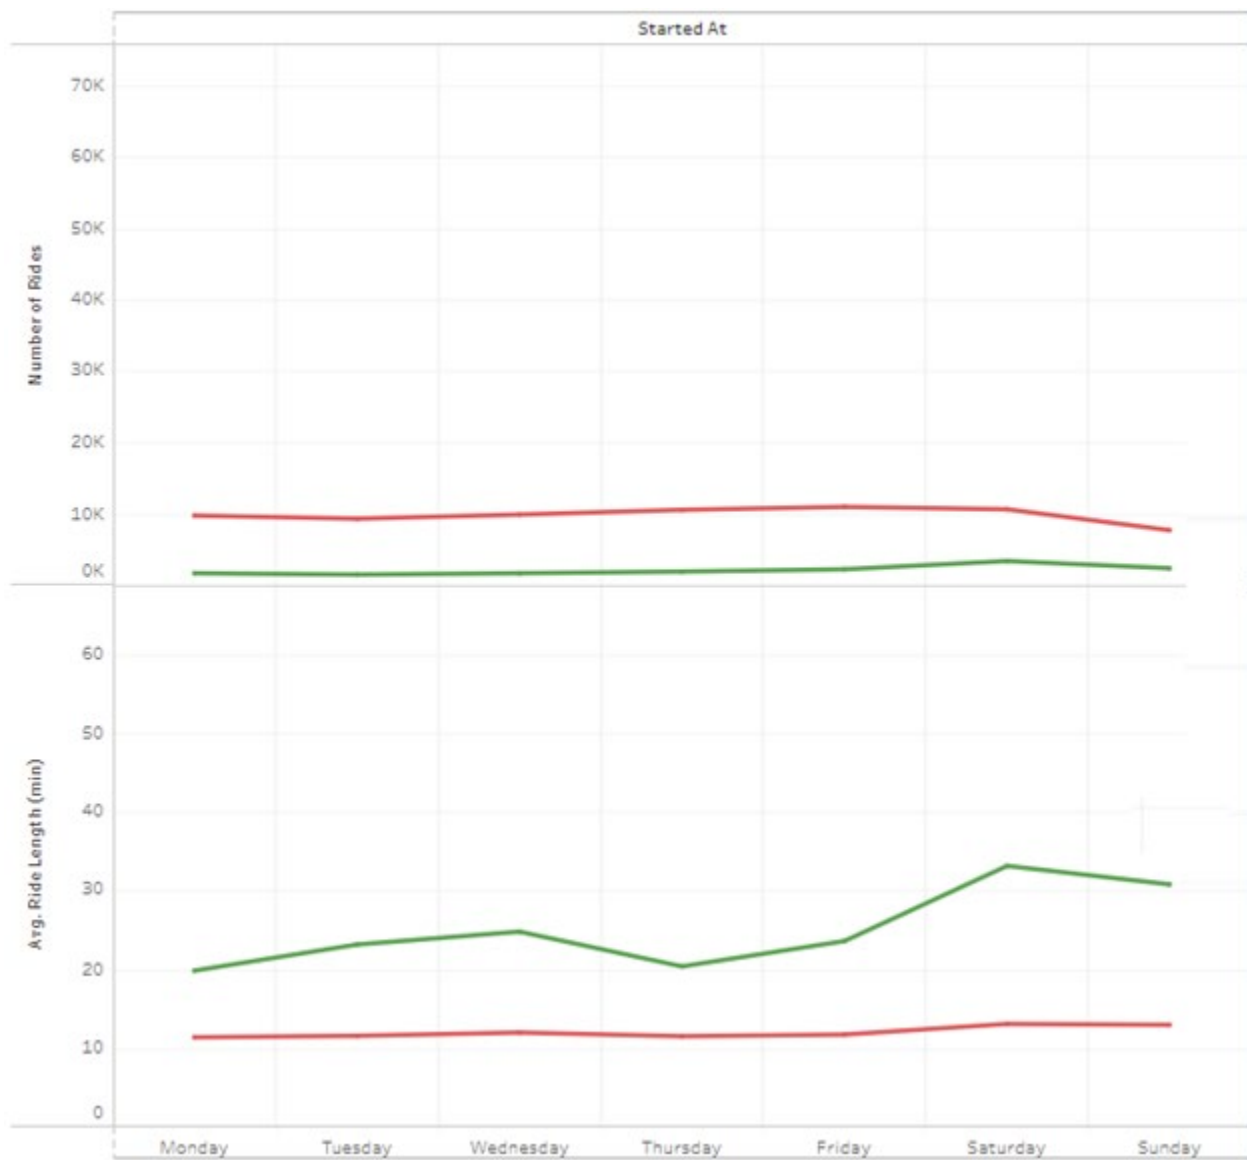

Total Bike Rides

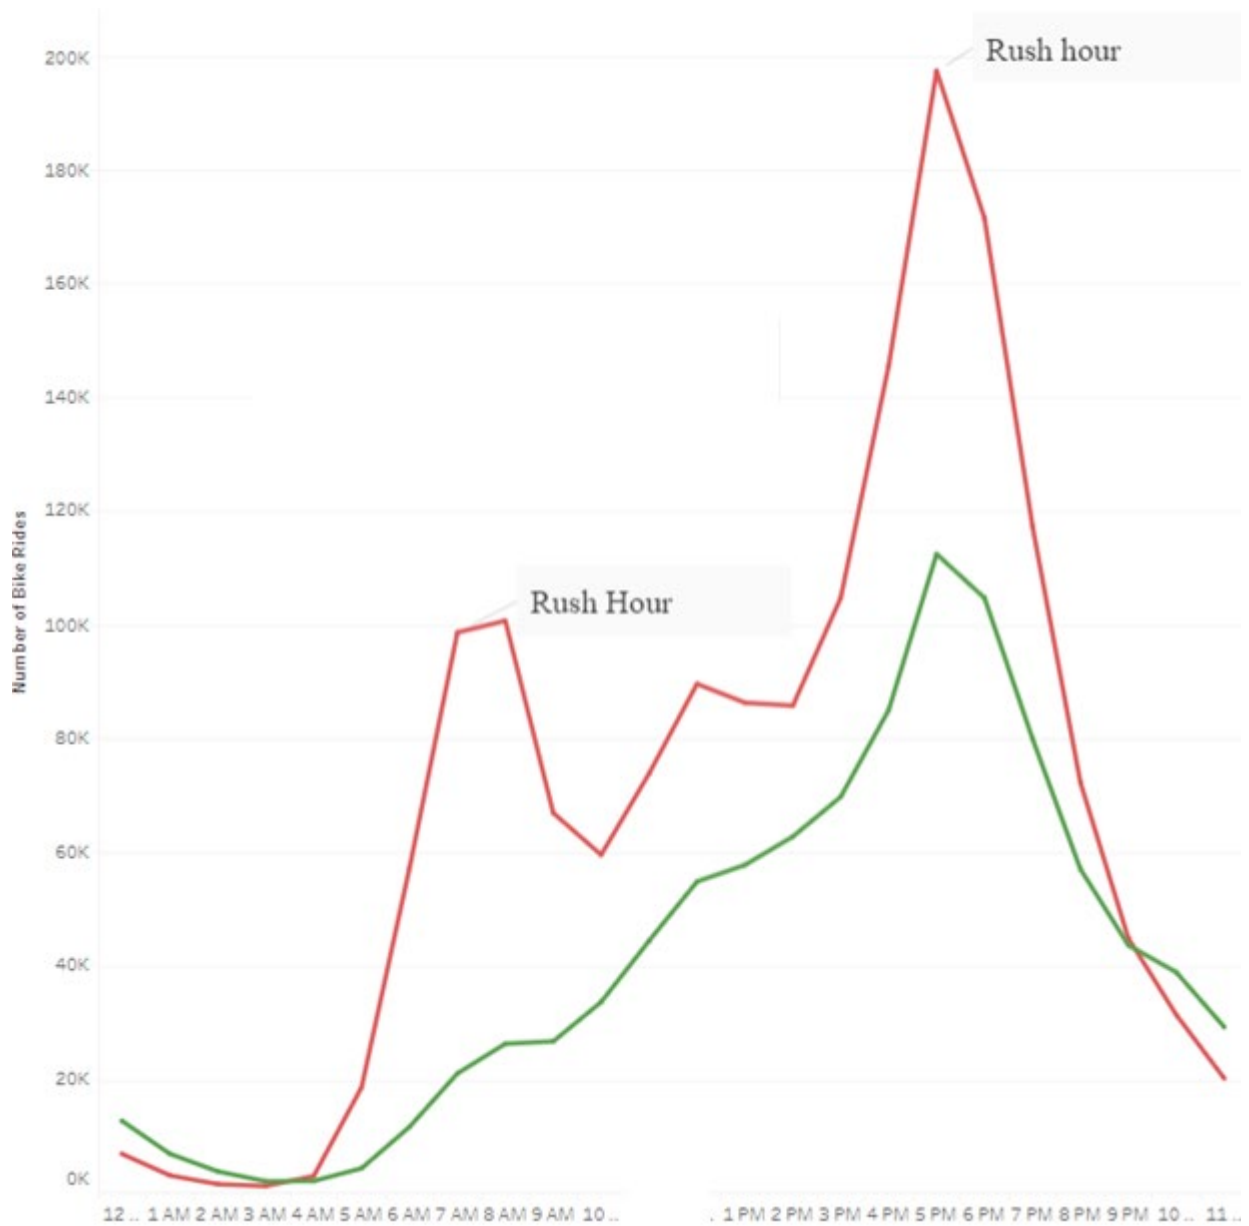

Bike Rides by Season and Time of Day

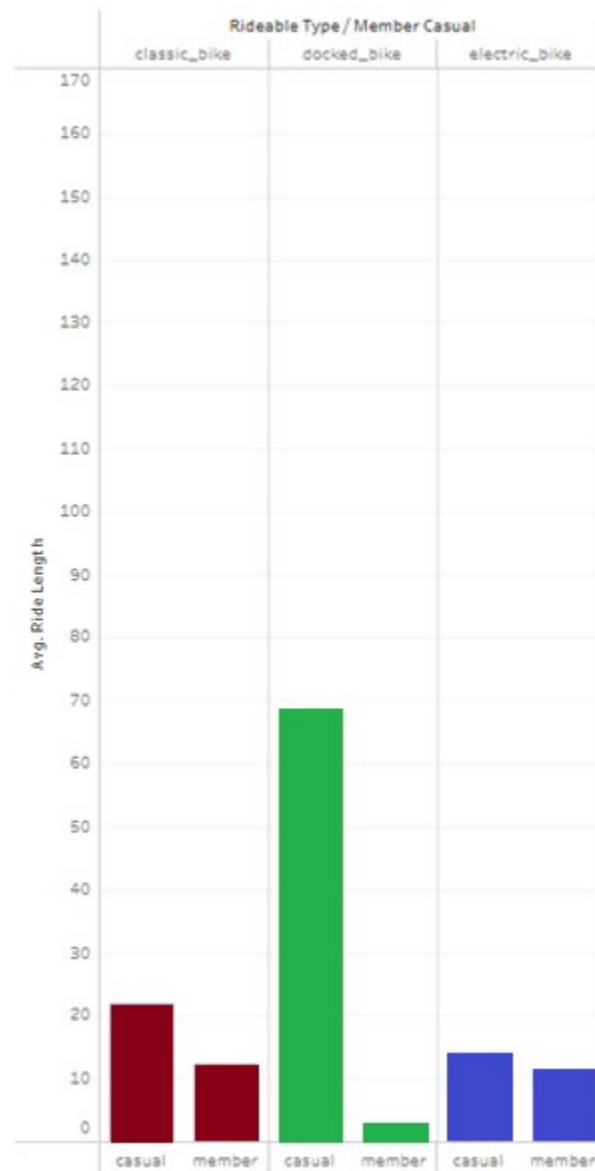

Casuals outnumber members exclusively on weekends throughout the summer months.

On a normal workday, members ride the most during rush hour.

For long bike excursions, casual riders rely on moored bike types.

Casual users often cluster in bay areas, especially during the summer, while members are most dispersed throughout Chicago and rely on bicycles more frequently.

